Everyone who knew Brooke said the same thing: She had a different relationship with each of us, but to each she was a true, loyal friend — caring, compassionate, understanding, fun, energetic, beautiful inside and out, with a brilliant mind and a glowing smile.

Every child who is helped by one of The Brooke Jackman Foundation's programs is also lucky to have a piece of Brooke living on in them as well. This Foundation has been created to embody Brooke's spirit — her true love of reading and her profound desire to help children in need.

Brooke's family and friends all knew about Brooke's love of books. She read constantly — everything from weekly magazines to nonfiction biographies — and she was never without reading material in her backpack. Brooke would read as she got off the school bus, walking down the city streets and, as a child at camp, with a flashlight under the covers when she was supposed to be sleeping.

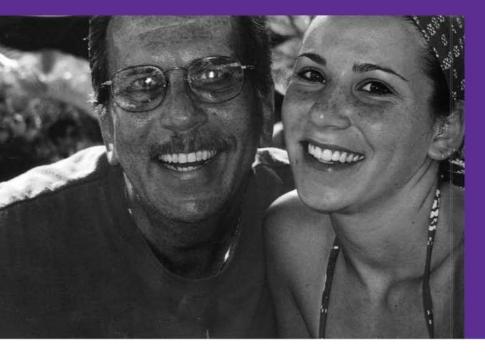

Brooke had a photographic memory — with total recall — and was the person whom friends and family called when they couldn't remember something. She was a perfectionist with herself but never with others. She tried to see the best in everyone and was always there for anyone lucky enough to be a part of her life.

Brooke was the fix-it person, shopping partner and best friend to her sister and she was also the one her brother quizzed on all sports statistics, becoming his little buddy. Brooke attended lectures and special events with her mom and matched wits with her dad, and was always available to help with a crossword puzzle.

Brooke's Story and Legacy

To her friends, she was the person who got the inside joke, gave the best advice and was trusted enough to be a special confidante. Although she was so many things to so many people, one thing everyone knew was that they could count on Brooke.

Brooke had her own mind and beliefs — and she was not afraid to speak up loud and clear about them. She didn't like wastefulness or dishonesty. She was modest to a fault: For example, when she made the Dean's List at Columbia University she never mentioned it, and she also forgot to mention the numerous awards she had received at her high school graduation.

The night before the September 11th attack on the World Trade Center, Brooke told her mother that there was more to life than making money. She had planned to get her M.S.W. at Berkeley's School of Social Work so that she could help disadvantaged children. At only 23, with so much hope and promise, Brooke had her whole life in front of her wiped away in one of the most horrific tragedies of our time; in an instant, our beautiful Brooke was taken from us. Now Brooke's family and friends do this for her and for all of the underserved and forgotten children who never got the chance to have Brooke herself come into their lives.

Brooke Packs

Brooke Packs are backpacks filled with notebooks, pens, pencils, erasers, rulers and other school supplies to underprivileged children.

Each Brooke Pack is filled with a brand new, age-appropriate book.

Brooke Packs

This year, 4,000 underprivileged children in the New York area received Brooke Packs. We have given out over 20,000 Brooke Packs to date.

Brooke Packs

66

With your help, we were able to send underprivileged children back to school with beautiful new backpacks filled with age appropriate school supplies. Your support enabled us to relieve their struggling families from the anxiety of meeting their child's most basic needs. Thanks to your efforts, these children started the school year with hope and confidence, and the tools they need to succeed. On behalf of those who were touched by your kindness, we offer our sincere appreciation. We couldn't have done this without you.

On behalf of WIN, I thank you for participating in our Annual Back-to-School Backpack Drive this year! Once again, your outstanding dedication to championing for youth has shone through. Your generous donations of backpacks, school supplies and clothing for our shelters have brought smiles to children's faces and great ease to their parents' minds.

Brooke's Cooks

This summer we launched Brooke's Cooks – a series of nutrition information workshops, cooking demonstrations, and readings that will promote literacy, learning and family values

Brooke's Cooks

Brooke's Cooks
encourages healthy
living among at-risk
children and their families in the New York City area.

Brooke's Cooks

The first Brooke's Cooks event was held on Thursday, July 31, with nearly 50 children ages 5 to 12, along with their families at the St. Nick's Alliance in Williamsburg, Brooklyn.

Brooke's Cooks

Thank you for helping our family and especially my children to know the love of reading, to work together between family, to devote their time to think about the welfare and future of children and to teach us to eat healthy. Programs like this are always needed for our children. Thank you. People like you are what we need in this world.

ABC Food, Family, and Me

This fall we debuted the third book in BJF's ABC compilation series.
"ABC, Food, Family, and Me" is a collection of narratives and illustrations for each letter of the alphabet about food and family written by the children of the Brooke Jackman Foundation.

Brooke's Books

Since 2008, nearly 70,000 disadvantaged
children in BJF's programs
have received a new book
through our Brooke's Books program and we have given out more than 200,000 books to date.

Brooke's Books

66

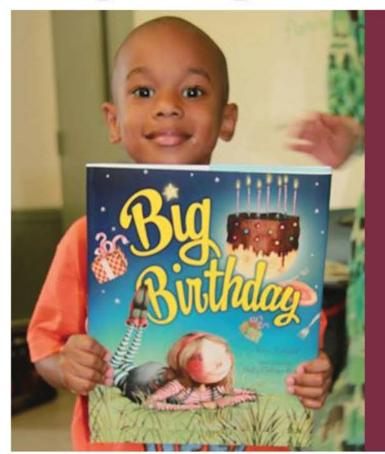

Getting books into the homes of children and families, especially those with limited literacy skills, is a powerful tool in getting children prepared to enter school. 9 9

Family Literacy

The Brooke Jackman Family
Literacy Programs are designed to engage parents/guardians and their children in literacy-based activities. In each session, participants receive take-home
literacy packages, age-appropriate books, and concrete learning strategies.

Family Literacy

66

Every child in this city should experience the joys of reading from a young age, and the BJF workshops are an exciting way to promote literacy.

- First Lady of New York City Chirlaine McCray

The Brooke Jackman Family Literacy Programs have I3 sites in all five boroughs of New York City, reaching over I,000 families annually.

Family Literacy

66

Through [BJF's] wonderful family literacy program, children and their parents/caregivers are provided with an opportunity to experience, as a family, the joy of reading in a safe, supportive environment.

- Rose Pierre-Louis
Commissioner of the Mayor's Office
to Combat Domestic Violence

Family Literacy

66

On behalf of our staff thanks so much for bringing the reading and healthy eating events to the Williamsburg Community Center last week. Moreover, thank you for your sustained support of Family Literacy. Children, parents and school principals all love the experience. Family literacy is a defining means to engage and support limited literacy families.

Michael Rochford
 Executive Director, St. Nicks Alliance

Annual Read-a-Thon

This past September BJF hosted its 5th Annual Read-a-thon. Nearly 200 children and families gathered for an afternoon of books and bonding at Barnes &
Noble Tribeca in Manhattan.

The BJF Read-a-thon is a free event which celebrates the positive power of literacy and commemorates more than a decade of instilling the love of reading into hundreds of children throughout New York.

9th Annual Race for Literacy

66

Congrats on a fantastic race. It was so well organized and fun. We loved the new course and had a blast today. Thanks so much. We will be there again next year!

2014 Gala

66

I found your wonderful gala, while grand like other galas I have attended, to have an authenticity amongst the crowd about the mission at hand for BJF and a desire amongst the attendees to make it happen.
